

The concluding Song.

When sorrowes be great, and hap awry,
Let Reason intreat thee patiently.

A Song.

Though pinching be a pible pain,
To want desire that is but vain.
Though some be curst, and some be kind
Subdue the worst with patient mind.

Who sits so hie, who sits so low ?
Who feels such joy, that feels no wo ?
When bale is bad, good boot is ny,
Take all adventures patiently.

To marrie a Weep, to marrie a Shrow,
To meet with a friend, to meet with a foe,
These checks of chance can no man sie,
But God himself that rules the skie.

Which God preserve our Noble Queen,
From perillous chance that hath ben sien,
And send her Subjects grace say I.
To sorbe her Highnesse patiently.

God save the Queen.
